

State of South Carolina

Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, South Carolina is fortunate to have students throughout the state who consistently exhibit outstanding character, service, leadership, responsibility, and discipline; and

WHEREAS, these students serve as positive role models for young people across South Carolina and the nation by following established rules, helping and respecting others, working diligently to perform their school work, and striving daily to make a contribution to the world around them; and

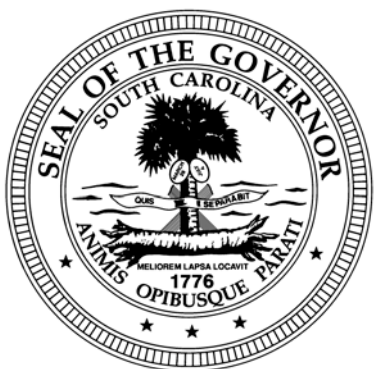

WHEREAS, through their dedication to the principles of good citizenship, these young people represent the future leaders of our state and nation; and

WHEREAS, the 2004 observance of "Governor's Citizenship Day" provides a unique opportunity to recognize the outstanding young people who are school winners of a 2004 Governor's Citizenship Award.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mark Sanford, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim May 19, 2004, as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to join me in honoring our young people and each school winner for exhibiting character, service, leadership, responsibility, and discipline.
